The company

Success is a matter of experience

Rudolf Rafflenbeul is a highly successful company manufacturing products made of spring steel since 1902. More than 500 customers in 33 countries have been taking advantage of our support and service for decades. This continuity clearly serves to underline our major goal, namely, to provide customers with exactly the right product to meet their needs. Irrespective of whether it's a question of standard, or customised parts, we give each individual product the right shape. In doing so, the customer not only profits from the know-how of our workforce of 125, but also from state-of-the-art production technology guaranteeing quality and precision.

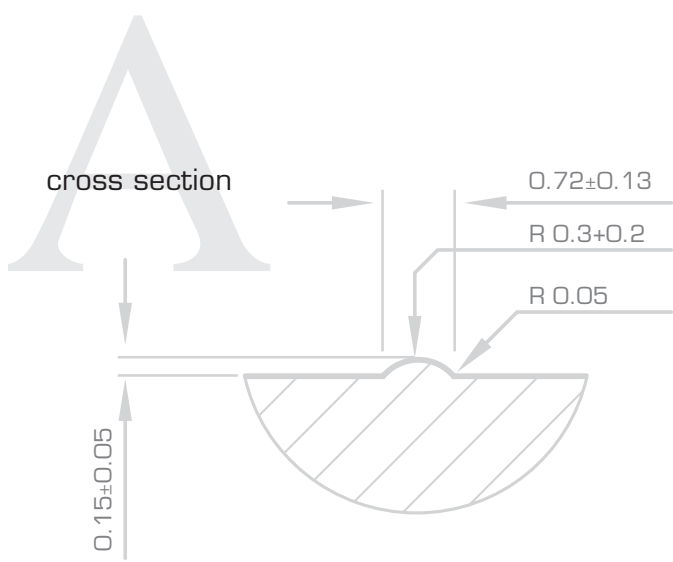

Standard parts

The standard sets the bench mark

Being suppliers to the automotive, supply and electrical industries, to machine building and plant construction companies, as well as to the trade, we produce a wide range of standard parts. The product spectrum covers over 4.000 items such as spring washers, split washers, split taper sleeves and dowel pins, all available off-the-shelf.

Customised parts

The shapes you need

In this age of globalisation and world-wide marketing of products, technical changes take place at a tremendous speed. User-oriented, efficient solutions are the order of the day.

Bearing this in mind, we supply special products such as punched, bent and stamped parts, or rolled sleeves and pins, tailored to meet particular user requirements. Since we view ourselves as being partners right from the very beginning, close cooperation with the customer during the development and design stages is a matter of course.

Added benefits

Consolidated manufacturing guarantees efficiency

Tight deadlines as a result of changing design requirements, or new problems in packing logistics, are just some of the challenges with which we are confronted daily. It is simply not enough to just offer a good product. The tasks presented demand flexibility and speed. Thanks to our in-house tool making shop, our own hardening shop and mechanical galvanising plant, we are able to react at particularly high speed. The essence of the whole thing is that new solutions are created quickly and efficiently. The philosophy of „single source supply” provides customers with a maximum of reliability and efficiency right from the design phase through to delivery.
